

ABSTRACT

A multilayer electronic component has a multilayered product laminating a plurality of dielectric sheets as one piece, a plurality of grounded electrodes provided among the dielectric sheets being different inside the multilayered product, and inductor electrodes provided on the dielectric sheet surfaces not having the plurality of grounded electrodes inside the multilayered product, wherein all or part of the inductor electrodes are placed so as not to be sandwiched by the plurality of grounded electrodes.